Since many online games have their own economies, it is possible to make a significant amount of money through playing those games (as well as copying others). As the economy is largely driven by player interaction, both positive and negative elements, this has led many players to claim that there is an inherent conflict of interest between game developers and users; in other words, "who pays gets spoiled?".

On August 15, 2021 (12:00 PM), ROBLOX released a new website design. This redesign adds a many features and improvements such as new search function, expanded news section, easier access to games and groups/communities, expanded mobile version of the site, ability to message anyone on the website regardless of whether they are a user or staff/trade with users without the need to add them first (members must have this feature enabled), expanded trades panel with detailed card information, ability to cancel trades before they are completed when there are no funds involved on either side of the trade to prevent scams that involve giving out items for free and getting items or money in return but never giving back the items that were given.

On December 20, 2021, a 12-year-old girl in Las Vegas named Arielle De La Rosa was banned from Roblox for what she believed was a "harassment campaign". She had created a character named Emily Roe that she used to bully another player online. The bullying campaign went on for over a year until it came to her parents' attention and they contacted Roblox about it. The harassment campaign violated the Child Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA). Her parents encouraged her to create a character named "Emily Roe" and they hoped that this would help her get unbanned from Roblox.
